The Western Australian Government has released the draft strategic assessment documents, 'Perth and Peel Green Growth Plan for 3.5 million' (Green Growth Plan) for four months public comment.

As part of the community consultation process on the draft Green Growth Plan, Outdoors WA is inviting key outdoor sector stakeholders to a forum that will enable the outdoors community to better understand the strategic assessment process and the resulting Green Growth Plan.

Future development proposed under the strategic assessment will shape the landscape for future generations to come. For instance, the availability and location of residential housing, the location of major roads and consequences for road users, the siting of industrial development nodes, the development of mineral resources and conservation areas are set out under the plan.
